ITEM 4. ADVISORY BUSINESS

McGovern Financial is owned and managed by its principal, Gene McGovern.

Financial Planning:

McGovern Financial provides fee-only, advice-only financial planning and investment advisory services to individuals and families from all walks of life. These services may be general in nature or focused on particular areas of interest or need, depending upon each client's unique circumstances.

The primary function of McGovern Financial is providing financial planning and investment advisory services to individuals, with an emphasis on retirement income and investment planning. Advice is rendered in the areas of cash flow and debt management, tax planning, insurance and risk management, education funding, student loan management, retirement planning, Social Security optimization, estate planning, asset allocation, and investment selection. We employ fundamental, long-term financial planning and investment strategies.

McGovern Financial first conducts an initial interview and gathers data to assist the client in determining specific needs, goals, objectives and tolerance for risk. We then prepare analyses of the current financial situation and possible future scenarios, when appropriate. Next, McGovern Financial presents the analysis and a written summary of the significant observations, assumptions, and recommendations over each area for which we were engaged to provide advice. McGovern Financial may assist clients with implementation and/or monitoring of its recommendations if such services are included within the scope of the engagement. Clients may re-engage McGovern Financial as needed. Periodic financial check-ups are recommended, and it is the client's responsibility to initiate this review.

Advisors employed by McGovern Financial may also conduct group educational workshops on financial planning topics such as "Maximizing Your Employee Benefits," "Retirement Savings Strategies," "Understanding Cash Flow," "Asset Allocation and Portfolio Risk," "Dissecting Mutual Funds Using Morningstar," and "Couples and Money." McGovern Financial may impose a fee for educational workshops. Generally, the employer, civic organization, or non-profit group sponsoring the workshop pays any fees charged by McGovern Financial. In the event there is a charge to workshop attendees, the fee will be published on the workshop announcement or invitation.

McGovern Financial does not maintain any wrap programs and does not have any assets under management.

ITEM 5. FEES AND COMPENSATION

Financial Planning Engagements:

The initial consultation with McGovern Financial is provided free of charge and without obligation to the client. Following the initial consultation, McGovern Financial charges clients on (1) a flat-fee project basis, (2) an annual retainer basis, or (3) an hourly basis, all of which are fee-only. No performance-related or asset management fees are charged.

Examples of flat-fee project basis fees are:

- Preparation of a comprehensive financial plan: generally, $4,000 to $5,000. Highly complex plans may involve a higher fee, ranging up to $10,000. Payable upon presentation and delivery of the financial plan. An initial deposit of one-half of the project fee is due upon signing of the agreement. See below.
- Detailed financial planning consultation for a specific area (e.g., cash flow planning and budgeting, student loan repayment options, Social Security optimization): $500 – $2,000, payable upon delivery of the analysis and recommendations. An initial deposit may be required if the project scope exceeds $500. See below.

Annual Retainer Agreement

McGovern Financial's fee for clients under an annual retainer agreement that includes a comprehensive financial plan is the cost of the plan itself plus a retainer fee of $1,000 to $2,000 and is negotiable. McGovern Financial's fee for clients under an annual retainer agreement following the completion of a financial plan is $1,000 to $2,000 per year and is negotiable. Clients under either type of annual retainer receive an annual or semiannual review and unlimited access to our financial planning, tax planning, and investment advisory services throughout the term of the agreement.

Hourly Fees

Hourly fees for financial planning and investment advisory services are $300 per hour.

Projects spanning more than three months will be billed quarterly. Fees are not collected for services to be provided more than 6 months in advance. McGovern Financial does not and will not have custody of client funds or securities. McGovern Financial requires a deposit for hourly or project engagements anticipated to exceed $500 and for all engagements involving delivery of a comprehensive financial plan and/or an annual retainer. The required deposit is one-half of the project or retainer fee.

For project or hourly engagements, the balance of fees due is payable immediately upon presentation of the plan or advice to the client. For annual retainer clients, fees are billed quarterly in arrears. Services to be provided and the anticipated fee range are detailed in the written Service Agreement.

Either party may terminate an engagement upon written notice within 5 days of signing the Service Agreement, at which time no fees would be due. Should the client terminate the engagement after this date, the client is responsible and will be invoiced for any time charges incurred by McGovern Financial in the preparation of their project or plan. Upon termination, McGovern Financial shall refund the pro-rated portion of the advanced deposit that was not utilized in connection with the preparation of a financial project or plan.

Fees paid to McGovern Financial for financial planning and advisory services are completely separate from the fees and expenses charged by mutual fund companies and their portfolio managers. A complete explanation of fees and expenses is provided in each mutual fund prospectus. Clients are encouraged to read the prospectus before investing. Clients of McGovern Financial may also incur transaction costs or administration fees from broker/dealers, trust companies, or other service providers. Clients are encouraged to obtain a complete schedule of these fees from the service provider before entering into any engagement with such providers. McGovern Financial does not receive any portion of these other fees. The only compensation received by McGovern Financial is the fees paid directly by the client.

ITEM 8. METHODS OF ANALYSIS, INVESTMENT STRATEGIES AND RISK OF LOSS

If McGovern Financial is engaged to provide investment advice, the client's current financial situation, needs, goals, objectives, time horizon, and tolerance and capacity for risk are first evaluated. Asset allocation and investment policy decisions are then made to, in our best judgment, help the client achieve their overall financial objectives while minimizing risk exposure. Asset allocation is a key component of investment portfolio design. McGovern Financial believes that the appropriate allocation of assets across diverse investment categories (stock vs. bond, foreign vs. domestic, large cap vs. small cap, high quality vs. high yield, etc.) is the primary determinant of portfolio returns and critical in the long-term success of one's financial objectives.

McGovern Financial employs fundamental, long-term, buy-and-hold philosophies and approaches in its investment selection and implementation strategies. Recommendations provided are based on publicly available reports, analysis, research materials, computerized asset allocation models, and various subscription services.

McGovern Financial does not guarantee the future performance of any account or any specific level of performance, the success of any investment decision or strategy that McGovern Financial may use, or the success of McGovern Financial's recommendations. All investment decisions are subject to various risks, including market risk, interest rate risk, inflation risk, currency risk, and economic, political, and business risks, and those investment decisions will not always be profitable. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from McGovern Financial. Moreover, each client is advised that it remains his/her/its responsibility to promptly notify McGovern Financial if there is ever any change in his/her/its financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing/evaluating/revising McGovern Financial's previous recommendations and/or services.
