WE HAVE MUCH FOR WHICH TO BE THANKFUL!

I - for one - am thankful for my beloved family and for all of my incredible business friends. You know who you are and I feel as if I am just starting to see that comforting distant shore as a business owner. Thanksgiving is not just a good time to celebrate our great fortune with those closest to us, but also a time to remember the courage demonstrated by the original Pilgrims as they left their known home for a land far away. The journey across the North Atlantic and the ensuing first winter must have tested their nerves, faith, and endurance. On a more practical note, I am also very thankful for pumpkin pie and one of my favorite poems has always been "Over the River." Listen HERE!

DO NOT FORGET ABOUT YOUR BELOVED FAMILY!

With all the warmth and cheer of the holidays also comes a less happy reality. The roads become slick, the night falls earlier, and we eat (much) more. All these facts increase the likelihood that we may suffer an illness or injury as winter sets in for the next few months. The Thanksgiving table is a very good place to reflect upon who is most important in our lives and to make sure that we have our affairs in order just in case the unthinkable happens. If you have not recently reviewed your legal documents, this is an excellent time to blow the dust off of them and consult a local attorney. It is also incredibly important to name beneficiaries (primary and contingent) for all retirement accounts and insurance policies. Our best laid plans go for naught if they are not documented in black and white. Learn MORE!

WE HAVE A NEW WEBSITE!

Our new website is much cleaner and easier to navigate. It has useful tools and information that will help clients and visitors navigate the stormy seas around this time of year. Our new tag line of Chart Your Course is a call to you to help shape your own future with the help of our team. Please visit www.JQRCapital.com and follow us on social media as we celebrate the holidays!

JOIN US FOR AN UPCOMING EVENT!!!

At JQR Capital, we pride ourselves on hosting periodic events that are both fun and educational in nature. There are often very strong parallels between the activities we choose and investing in the capital markets. These events are usually free - or offered at minimal charge to help us defer the costs. Friends are always welcome. So, please register today!
