

Planning Financial Futures

Do you spend more time planning your annual vacation than you do thinking about your personal finances? If so, you're not alone. A lot of people put off financial planning or avoid it altogether.

Personal financial planning is an ongoing, lifelong process. If we break it down into small, achievable tasks, it's a lot less daunting and can pay huge dividends to you and your family.

Resolve to make yourself financially fit in 2022:

The following personal finance calendar may help you get started.

January <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ Manage your debt. Start by paying off all high-cost and consider establishing an emergency fund.</li><li>✓ Create a cash flow statement of prior year income minus expenses. Calculate personal net worth.</li><li>✓ Consider if your portfolio's original target asset allocation needs rebalancing.</li><li>✓ Take full advantage of any available employer match.</li></ul>	July <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ Consider reading one book on personal finance or investing.</li></ul>
February <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ Review your insurance policies to be sure they are reflecting current needs</li></ul>	August <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ Compute if your vacation spending is as you projected.</li></ul>
March <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ Consider using any bonus or similar windfall to pay down debt and/or build an emergency fund.</li><li>✓ Check your credit report as improvements may allow lower loan costs.</li></ul>	September <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>✓ Consider establishing a Christmas/Holiday spending budget.</li></ul>

April <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>✓ File your income tax return by April 15 (unless extensions are available).</li> <li>✓ April 15 is the last day to make an IRA or Education Savings Account for the prior year.</li> </ul>	October <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>✓ Consider beginning year-end tax planning.</li> <li>✓ Consider upcoming open enrollment season and any changes with your health insurance coverage and other employer benefits.</li> </ul>
May <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>✓ Create an inventory of your home and personal property for insurance or estate planning.
