Item 4. Advisory Business

NLFP offers a variety of advisory services which include financial planning, consulting and investment management. Prior to rendering any of the foregoing advisory services, clients are required to enter into one or more written agreements with NLFP setting forth the relevant terms and conditions of the advisory relationship (the “Agreement”).

NLFP provides strategic investment management and seeks to monitor and rebalance client portfolios to maintain an efficient risk/return tradeoff and manage portfolio risk. To that end, the Firm will analyze client information to assess a client’s current situation, define their goals and determine what should be done in order to meet those goals. Depending on what services the Firm is engaged to provide, this could entail analyzing client assets, liabilities and cash flow, current insurance coverage, investments, tax strategies, and other personal goals and desired outcomes. The Firm believes an approach that carefully monitors client portfolios and leverages technology to effectively manage client assets plays a central role in meeting client objectives.

NLFP has been an independent registered investment adviser since March, 2013 and is principally owned by Bryce P. Carey and Eric M. Garsin.

While this brochure generally describes the business of NLFP, certain sections also discuss the activities of its Supervised Persons, which refer to the Firm’s officers, partners, directors (or other persons occupying a similar status or performing similar functions), employees or any other person who provides investment advice on NLFP’s behalf and is subject to the Firm’s supervision or control.

Financial Planning and Consulting Services

NLFP offers clients a range of financial planning and consulting services, which may include any or all of the following functions:

- Cash Flow Planning
- Asset Allocation
- Estate Planning
- Investment Consulting
- Insurance Needs Analysis
- Retirement Planning Analysis
- Risk Management
- Retirement Income & Distribution

While each of these services are available on a stand-alone basis, certain of them may also be rendered as part of a comprehensive client engagement (as described below). The Firm can be engaged for either Basic or Advanced services as part of The Financial Clarity Advantage (“FCA”) process which includes financial planning and consulting. NLFP typically will analyze and review data and documents provided by clients, evaluate a client’s ability to meet objectives, provide observations, identify problems and recommend strategies. A client will receive a summary which reflects their current financial circumstances, financial outlook, personal prerogatives and objectives in any one or all of the above-mentioned function areas.

In performing these services, pursuant to the FCA process, NLFP is not required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals (e.g. attorneys, accountants, etc.) and is expressly authorized to rely on such information. From time to time and when appropriate for a particular client, NLFP will recommend the services of itself, its Supervised Persons in their individual capacities as insurance agents or registered representatives of a broker-dealer, and/or other professionals to implement its recommendations.

Clients are advised that there is a conflict of interest if NLFP recommends its own services for implementation. Clients retain absolute discretion over all decisions regarding implementation and are under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by NLFP under a financial planning or consulting engagement or to engage the services of any such recommended professionals, including NLFP itself. Clients are advised that it remains their responsibility to promptly notify the Firm if there is ever any change in their financial situation or investment objectives for the purpose of reviewing, evaluating or revising NLFP's previous recommendations and/or services.

Investment Management Services

NLFP manages client investment portfolios primarily on a discretionary basis but may also manage portfolios on a non-discretionary basis.

NLFP principally allocates client assets among exchange-traded index funds ("ETFs") and may allocate assets among mutual funds. Individual equity and debt securities may also be employed in Personalized Asset Management Accounts (PAMA). Further, the Firm may allocate funds among the securities components of variable annuities and variable life insurance contracts, in accordance with the investment objectives of its individual clients. In addition, NLFP may also recommend that clients who qualify as accredited investors, as defined by Rule 501 of the Securities Act of 1933, invest in privately placed securities, which may include debt, equity and/or interests in pooled investment vehicles. Where appropriate, the Firm may also provide advice about any type of legacy position or other investment held in client portfolios.

Clients may also engage NLFP to advise on certain investment products that are not maintained at their primary custodian, such as variable life insurance and annuity contracts, and assets held in employer sponsored retirement plans and qualified tuition plans (i.e., 529 plans). In these situations, NLFP directs or recommends the allocation of client assets among the various investment options available within the product. These assets are generally maintained at the underwriting insurance company or the custodian designated by the product's provider.

NLFP tailors its advisory services to meet the needs of its individual clients and continuously seeks to ensure that client portfolios are managed in a manner consistent with their specific investment profiles. NLFP consults with clients on an initial and ongoing basis to determine their specific risk tolerance, time horizon, liquidity requirements and other factors relevant to the management of their portfolios. Clients are advised to promptly notify NLFP if there are changes in their financial situation or if they wish to place any limitations on the management of their portfolios. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions or mandates on the management of their accounts if NLFP determines, in its sole discretion, the conditions would not materially impact the performance of a management strategy or prove overly burdensome to the firm's management efforts.

Variable Annuities

As mentioned above, NLFP may also recommend and provide ongoing advice on variable annuities. This service will be based upon an agreement in place between NLFP and our client(s). When providing advice on variable annuities, our advice is limited to those investment options made available by the insurance company. Further, limitations on frequency of trading or rebalancing will vary according to each sub-account's restrictions. We describe the fees charged below under Item 5 – Fees and Compensation. We describe the material investment risks for many of the securities that we utilized/recommend under Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss.

Administrative Use of Technology

The Firm utilizes certain cloud-based and automated technologies, including tools powered by Artificial Intelligence (AI), solely to support internal administrative and back-office functions. These tools may assist staff with meeting transcription, document organization, or scheduling. The Firm does not utilize AI, machine learning, or automated algorithms to provide investment advice, formulate investment strategies, or execute trades. All investment-related decisions and client recommendations are made exclusively by our professional staff based on their independent research and judgement.

Use of Independent Managers

As mentioned above, NLFP may recommend certain Independent Managers to actively manage a portion of its clients' assets. The specific terms and conditions under which a client engages an Independent Manager are set forth in a separate written agreement between the designated Independent Manager and either NLFP or the client. In addition to this brochure, clients also receive the written disclosure documents of the designated Independent Managers engaged to manage their assets.

NLFP evaluates various information about the Independent Managers chosen to manage client portfolios. The Firm generally reviews a variety of different resources, which may include the Independent Managers' public disclosure documents, materials supplied by the Independent Managers themselves, and other third-party analyses it believes are reputable. To the extent possible, the Firm seeks to assess the Independent Managers' investment strategies, past performance and risk results in relation to its clients' individual portfolio allocations and risk exposures. NLFP also takes into consideration each Independent Manager's management style, returns, reputation, financial strength, reporting, pricing and research capabilities, among other related factors.

NLFP continues to provide services relative to the discretionary or non-discretionary selection of the Independent Managers. On an ongoing basis, the Firm monitors the performance of those accounts being managed by Independent Managers by reviewing the summary account statements and trade confirmations produced by the Financial Institutions, as well as other performance information furnished by the Independent Managers and/or other third-party providers. NLFP seeks to ensure the Independent Managers' strategies and target allocations remain aligned with its clients' investment objectives and overall best interests.

NLFP does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (“ERISA”) and/or the Internal Revenue Code (the “Code”), as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule’s provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);

- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Give you basic information about conflicts of interest.

NLFP manages the following amount of discretionary and non-discretionary client assets calculated as of December 31, 2025:

i. Discretionary:	$129,255,972
ii. Non-Discretionary:	$0
iii. Total:	$129,255,972

Item 5. Fees and Compensation

NLFP offers its services on a fee basis, which may include hourly and/or fixed fees, as well as fees based upon assets under management or advisement. Additionally, certain of NLFP's Supervised Persons, in their individual capacities, offer securities brokerage services and insurance products under a separate commission arrangement from time to time.

Financial Planning and Consulting Fees

NLFP generally charges either an hourly or a fixed fee to provide clients with stand-alone financial planning or consulting services. These fees are largely determined by the scope and complexity of the agreed upon services and range from $2,250 to $25,000+ on a fixed fee basis (either one-time or per annum, depending on whether the stand-alone financial planning or consulting arrangement with the client is ongoing or not) or $250.00 on an hourly basis.

The specific terms and fee structure are negotiated in advance and set forth in the Agreement with NLFP. Generally, NLFP requires one-half of the financial planning or consulting fee payable upon execution of the Agreement and the balance due at the time the financial plan is delivered or the underlying services are rendered to completion. Clients may elect to have NLFP directly debit fees from a non-qualified account or send them an invoice for payment. Clients will be invoiced for hourly fees incurred to-date upon completion or termination of an hourly engagement. If a fixed fee financial planning and consulting engagement is terminated before delivery of the services is completed, the portion of the fixed fee already received by NLFP will be netted against the percentage of the services completed, and a credit balance will be refunded to the client. Any remaining outstanding balance of the fixed fee shall be invoiced to the client.

Investment Management Fees

NLFP provides investment management services for an annual blended fee based on the amount of assets under the firm's management. This blended fee varies depending upon the size of a client's portfolio and the type of services rendered, based on the following progressive tiered fee schedule:

Annual Management Fee – Choice Based Fee Schedule
Select Advisor Access		Investment Only
$0 to $500,000	1.00% of assets	$0 to $1,000,000	0.50% of assets
$500,001 to $1,000,000	0.75% of assets over $500,000	$1,000,001 to $2,000,000	0.40% of assets
$1,000,001 to $3,000,000	0.50% of assets over $1,000,000	$2,000,001 to $5,000,000	0.30% of assets
$3,000,001 to $5,000,000	0.40% of assets over $3,000,000	$5,000,001 to $10,000,000	0.25% of assets
$5,000,001 to $10,000,000	0.25% of assets over $5,000,000	>$10,000,000	Negotiable
>$10,000,000	Negotiable	Minimum Annual Fee - $1,000

This blended fee is calculated based on average daily account balance and charged quarterly in arrears, based upon the market value of the assets being managed by NLFP.

NLFP acts as portfolio manager using the strategy and portfolio selected with the client. Clients may receive advisor service on a comprehensive basis (“Select Advisor Access”) or receive only account investment management (“Investment Only”). If “Investment Only” services are selected, the client may only receive other advisory services by completion of a separate contract for those services that allows them to pay an additional hourly or flat fee. Additional services may be received after completion of a separate contract for services that allow the client to pay an additional flat or hourly fee.

In the event the Agreement is terminated or in the event of a client death, the fee for the final billing period is prorated through the effective date of the termination and the outstanding balance is charged to the client, as appropriate.

Fee Discretion

NLFP, in its sole discretion, may negotiate to charge a lesser fee based upon certain criteria, such as anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client relationship, account retention and pro bono activities. As such, different clients receiving substantially identical services may pay different fees. Our overriding mission regarding Fee Discretion is to treat clients and their unique situations in a fair and reasonable manner.

Additional Fees and Expenses

In addition to the advisory fees paid to NLFP, clients will generally also incur certain charges imposed by other third parties, such as broker-dealers, custodians, trust companies, banks and other financial institutions (collectively “Financial Institutions”). These additional charges may include securities brokerage commissions, transaction fees, custodial fees, fees charged by the Independent Managers, charges imposed directly by a mutual fund or ETF in a client’s account, as disclosed in the fund’s prospectus (e.g., fund management fees and other fund expenses), deferred sales charges, odd-lot differentials, transfer taxes, wire transfer and electronic fund fees, and other fees and taxes on brokerage accounts and securities transactions. To the extent an Independent Manager has been retained to manage all or a portion of a client’s account, the fee payable to such Independent Manager by the client shall be memorialized in a written agreement.

Variable Annuities

For variable annuity contracts, the Firm charges a flat advisory fee that is separate from and not calculated under the Firm’s standard asset-based fee schedule. The flat fee may be charged as a dollar amount or as a fixed percentage rate and is disclosed to each client in their advisory agreement or fee addendum prior to billing. This fee is assessed on the contract value as reported by the annuity provider.

Variable annuity contracts also impose internal fees, including mortality and expense charges, administrative fees, and other contract-level expenses. These internal fees are charged by the annuity provider and are detailed in the annuity prospectus. The Firm does not receive any portion of these fees.

Fee Debit

Clients grant NLFP the authority to directly debit their accounts for payment of the Firm’s investment advisory fees. The Financial Institutions that act as qualified custodian for client accounts have agreed to send statements to clients not less than quarterly detailing all account transactions, including any amounts paid to NLFP.

Account Additions and Withdrawals

Clients may make additions to and withdrawals from their account at any time, subject to NLFP's right to terminate an account. Additions may be in cash or securities provided that the Firm reserves the right to liquidate any transferred securities or decline to accept particular securities into a client's account. Clients may withdraw account assets on notice to NLFP, subject to the usual and customary securities settlement procedures. However, NLFP designs its portfolios as long-term investments and the withdrawal of assets may impair the achievement of a client's investment objectives. NLFP may consult with its clients about the options and implications of transferring securities. Clients are advised that when transferred securities are liquidated, they may be subject to transaction fees, fees assessed at the mutual fund level (i.e. contingent deferred sales charge) and/or tax ramifications.

Commissions or Sales Charges for Recommendations of Securities

Employees of NLFP no longer render securities brokerage services or participate in any commission-based arrangements with Mutual Securities, Inc. ("MSI").

However, our firm receives a small percentage of revenue from MSI under a contractual agreement that was established so MSI could continue to service certain insurance and fund products for our legacy clients. This compensation is separate from client advisory fees and is not based on insurance commissions or new sales activity. While clients are not required to purchase any products through MSI, this arrangement creates a conflict of interest because our firm receives an ongoing financial benefit from MSI.

Item 6. Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

NLFP does not provide any services for a performance-based fee (i.e., a fee based on a share of capital gains or capital appreciation of a client's assets).

Item 7. Types of Clients

NLFP provides its services primarily to high net worth individuals, but also to a limited number of trusts, estates, charitable organizations, corporations and other business entities.

Minimum Account Requirements

NLFP does not impose a minimum portfolio value for starting and maintaining an investment management, or FCA relationship. The Investment Only fee minimum is $1,000 annually. The minimum fee for a stand-alone financial planning/FCA process is $2,250.00 for Basic services and a minimum fee $3,250.00 for Advanced services.

This minimum fee may have the effect of making NLFP's services cost prohibitive for certain clients. NLFP, in its sole discretion, may waive its minimum annual fee based upon certain criteria, such as anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client relationships, account retention, and pro bono activities. Certain Independent Managers may impose more restrictive account requirements and varying billing practices than NLFP. In these instances, NLFP may alter its corresponding account requirements and/or billing practices to accommodate those of the Independent Managers.

Item 8. Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

NLFP typically utilizes a combination of fundamental, cyclical and behavioral finance methods of analysis.

Fundamental analysis involves an evaluation of the fundamental financial condition and competitive position of a particular fund or issuer. For NLFP, this process typically involves an analysis of an issuer's management team, investment strategies, style drift, past performance, reputation and financial strength in relation to the asset class concentrations and risk exposures of the Firm's model asset allocations. A substantial risk in relying upon fundamental analysis is that while the overall health and position of a company may be good, evolving market conditions may negatively impact the security.

Cyclical analysis is similar to fundamental analysis in that it involves the assessment of market conditions at a macro (entire market or economy) or micro (company specific) level, rather than focusing on the overall fundamental analysis of the health of the particular company that NLFP is recommending. The risks with cyclical analysis are similar to those of technical analysis.

Behavioral Finance analysis involves an examination of conventional economic as well as behavioral and cognitive psychological factors. Behavioral finance methodology seeks to combine a qualitative and quantitative approach to provide explanations for why individuals may, at times, make irrational financial decisions. Where conventional financial theories have failed to explain certain patterns, the behavioral finance methodology investigates the underlying reasons and biases that cause some people to behave against their best interests. Risks of relying on a behavioral finance analysis include spotting trends in human behavior that may not predict future trends.

Investment Strategies

NLFP offers custom and portfolio allocation strategies to its clients for the management of their investment portfolios. Both allocation strategies begin with determining an appropriate strategic allocation based on the client's investment goals, objectives, time horizon and risk tolerance.

With both custom and portfolio allocation strategies, the underlying assets are regularly reviewed to determine if each asset class is appropriate to be included in the portfolio. The Firm takes into account several factors when making these determinations. The models range from aggressive accumulation to preservation of capital. While restrictions cannot typically be placed on the model portfolios, NLFP offers its clients more flexibility when participating in custom portfolios.

Risks of Loss

Investing in securities involves the risk of loss. Clients should be prepared to bear potential losses. The profitability of a significant portion of NLFP's recommendations may depend to a great extent upon correctly assessing the future course of price movements of stocks and bonds over time. There can be no assurance that NLFP will be able to predict those price movements accurately in any shorter term investment time horizon.

Mutual Funds and ETFs

An investment in a mutual fund or ETF involves risk, including the loss of principal. Mutual fund and ETF shareholders are necessarily subject to the risks stemming from the individual issuers of the fund's underlying portfolio securities. Such shareholders are also liable for taxes on any fund-level capital gains, as mutual funds and ETFs are required by law to distribute capital gains in the event they sell securities for a profit that cannot be offset by a corresponding loss.

Shares of mutual funds are generally distributed and redeemed on an ongoing basis by the fund itself or a broker acting on its behalf. The trading price at which a share is transacted is equal to a fund's stated daily per share net asset value ("NAV"), plus any shareholders fees (e.g., sales loads, purchase fees, redemption fees). The per share NAV of a mutual fund is calculated at the end of each business day, although the actual NAV fluctuates with intraday changes to the market value of the fund's holdings. The trading prices of a mutual fund's shares may differ significantly from the NAV during periods of market volatility.

Shares of ETFs are listed on securities exchanges and transacted at negotiated prices in the secondary market. Generally, ETF shares trade at or near their most recent NAV, which is generally calculated at least once daily for indexed-based ETFs and more frequently for actively managed ETFs. However, certain inefficiencies may cause the shares to trade at a premium or discount to their pro rata NAV. There is also no guarantee that an active secondary market for such shares will develop or continue to exist. Generally, an ETF only redeems shares when aggregated as creation units (usually 50,000 shares or more). Therefore, if a liquid secondary market ceases to exist for shares of a particular ETF, a shareholder may have no way to dispose of such shares.

Use of Independent Managers

NLFP may recommend the use of Independent Managers. In these situations, NLFP continues risk based due diligence on such managers, but such recommendations rely to a great extent on the Independent Managers' ability to successfully implement their investment strategies. In addition, NLFP generally may not have the ability to supervise the Independent Managers on a day-to-day basis.

Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs)

NLFP may recommend ETFs that are comprised of investments in real estate investment trusts ("REITs"), the shares of which exist in the form of publicly traded securities. NLFP does not generally recommend or implement non-traded private REITs. REITs are collective investment vehicles with portfolios comprised primarily of real estate and mortgage related holdings. Many REITs hold heavy concentrations of investments tied to commercial and/or residential developments, which inherently subject REIT investors to the risks associated with a downturn in the real estate market. Investments linked to certain regions that experience greater volatility in the local real estate market may give rise to large fluctuations in the value of the vehicle's shares. Mortgage related holdings may give rise to additional concerns pertaining to interest rates, inflation, liquidity and counterparty risk.

Variable Annuities

NLFP may provide ongoing management or oversight of client variable annuity contracts held directly with the issuing insurance company. These accounts remain subject to the investment options, fees, and transaction limitations imposed by the annuity provider, which may limit NLFP's ability to monitor or manage them in the same manner as assets held at traditional custodians.

Variable annuities involve market risk, contract fees, and liquidity restrictions. Clients should review the annuity prospectus for detailed information. NLFP charges a separate flat fee for managing these assets, which may create a conflict of interest. This conflict is disclosed, and NLFP acts in the client's best interest when recommending or managing annuity assets.

Management through Similarly Managed "Model" Accounts

NLFP manages certain accounts through the use of similarly managed "model" portfolios, whereby the firm allocates all or a portion of its clients' assets among various mutual funds and/or securities on a discretionary basis using one or more of its proprietary investment strategies. In managing assets through the use of models, the firm remains in compliance with the safe harbor provisions of Rule 3a-4 of the Investment Company Act of 1940.

The strategy used to manage a model portfolio may involve a portfolio turnover that could negatively impact clients' net after tax gains. While the firm seeks to ensure that clients' assets are managed in a manner consistent with their individual financial situations and investment objectives, securities transactions effected pursuant to a model investment strategy are usually done without regard to a client's individual tax ramifications. Clients should contact NLFP if they experience a change in their financial situation or if they want to impose reasonable restrictions on the management of their accounts.

Item 9. Disciplinary Information

NLFP has not been involved in any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's evaluation of its advisory business or the integrity of its management.

Item 10. Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Independent Managers

As described in Item 4 of this brochure, from time to time and when appropriate for a particular client, NLFP will recommend the retention of an Independent Manager. NLFP does not receive any compensation directly from any Independent Manager, but Independent Managers will offer services that are intended to directly benefit NLFP, clients, or both. These services can include, for example, invitations to educational conferences, practice management consulting, and occasional business meals and entertainment. The availability of such services from an Independent Manager creates a conflict of interest, to the extent NLFP may be motivated to retain an Independent Manager as opposed to an alternative turnkey asset management provider (or to not retain one at all). NLFP addresses this conflict of interest by performing appropriate due diligence on all Independent Managers to confirm their services are in the best interests of clients, periodically evaluating alternatives, and evaluating the merit of Independent Managers without consideration for the benefits received by NLFP.

Item 11. Code of Ethics

NLFP and persons associated with NLFP (“Associated Persons”) are permitted to buy or sell securities that it also recommends to clients consistent with the Firm’s policies and procedures.

NLFP has adopted a code of ethics that sets forth the standards of conduct expected of its associated persons and requires compliance with applicable securities laws (“Code of Ethics”). NLFP’s Code of Ethics contains written policies reasonably designed to prevent the unlawful use of material non-public information by the Firm or any of its associated persons. The Code of Ethics also requires that certain of NLFP’s personnel (called “Access Persons”) report their personal securities holdings and transactions and obtain pre-approval of certain investments such as initial public offerings and limited offerings.

When the Firm is engaging in or considering a transaction in any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may effect for themselves or for their immediate family (i.e., spouse, minor children, and adults living in the same household as the Access Person) a transaction in that security unless:

- the transaction has been completed;
- the transaction for the Access Person is completed as part of a batch trade (as defined below in Item 12) with clients; or
- a decision has been made not to engage in the transaction for the client.

These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers’ acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

This Code of Ethics has been established recognizing that some securities trade in sufficiently broad markets to permit transactions by Access Persons to be completed without any appreciable impact on the markets of such securities. Therefore, under certain limited circumstances, exceptions may be made to the policies stated above. Clients and prospective clients may contact NLFP to request a copy of its Code of Ethics.

Item 12. Brokerage Practices

NLFP generally recommends that clients utilize the brokerage and clearing services of Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (“Fidelity”) for investment management accounts.

Factors which NLFP considers in recommending Fidelity or any other broker-dealer to clients include their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research and service. Fidelity enables NLFP to obtain many mutual funds including institutional share classes without transaction charges and some other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Fidelity may be higher or lower than those charged by other Financial Institutions.

The transaction costs paid by NLFP’s clients are designed to comply with the Firm’s duty to seek “best execution.” Clients may pay costs that are higher than another qualified Financial Institution might charge to effect the same transaction where NLFP determines that the costs are reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a Financial Institution’s services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, transaction costs, and responsiveness. NLFP seeks competitive rates but may not always necessarily obtain the lowest possible transaction costs for client transactions. NLFP periodically and systematically reviews its policies and procedures regarding its recommendation of Financial Institutions in light of its duty to seek best execution.

Transactions for each client generally will be effected independently, unless NLFP decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. NLFP may (but is not obligated to) combine or “block” such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among NLFP’s clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might not have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated among NLFP’s clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client on any given day. To the extent that NLFP determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which NLFP’s Supervised Persons may invest, the Firm generally does so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. NLFP does not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation. In the event that the Firm determines that a prorated allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account’s assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimis allocation in one or more accounts, NLFP may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis.

When NLFP provides advisory services on annuity contracts held with Lincoln Financial or other insurance carriers, all transactions within the contract are executed through the custodian or insurance company that issues the annuity. NLFP has no ability to direct brokerage, negotiate commission rates, or influence execution quality within these products.

Trading authority within annuity subaccounts is limited to the investment options made available by the insurer. NLFP allocates and reallocates among available subaccounts as part of its advisory services, but order routing and execution practices are solely determined by the annuity provider.

Because NLFP does not control brokerage for these accounts, traditional “best execution” factors (such as commission rates, execution venues, or research benefits) do not apply. NLFP does not receive any research, soft-dollar benefits, or other economic incentives from Lincoln Financial or any annuity provider.

Software and Support Provided by Financial Institutions

NLFP receives from Fidelity, without cost to NLFP, computer software and related systems support, which allow NLFP to better monitor client accounts maintained at Fidelity. NLFP receives the software and related support without cost because NLFP renders investment management services to clients that maintain assets at Fidelity. The software and support is not provided in connection with securities transactions of clients (i.e. not “soft dollars”). The software and related systems support may benefit NLFP, but not its clients directly. In fulfilling its duties to its clients, NLFP endeavors at all times to put the interests of its clients first. Clients should be aware, however, that NLFP’s receipt of economic benefits from a broker-dealer creates a conflict of interest since these benefits may influence NLFP’s choice of broker-dealer over another broker-dealer that does not furnish similar software, systems support or services.

Additionally, NLFP receives the following benefits from Fidelity through the Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services Group: receipt of duplicate client confirmations and bundled duplicate statements; access to a trading desk that exclusively services its Institutional Wealth Services Group participants; access to block trading which provides the ability to aggregate securities transactions and then allocate the appropriate shares to client accounts; and access to an electronic communication network for client order entry and account information.

The receipt of these products and services creates a conflict of interest to the extent it causes NLFP to recommend Fidelity as opposed to a comparable broker-dealer. NLFP addresses this conflict of interest by fully disclosing it in this brochure, evaluating Fidelity based on the value and quality of its services as realized by clients, and having the option to evaluate alternative broker-dealers to recommend.

NLFP does not consider, in selecting or recommending custodial broker-dealers, whether NLFP or a related person receives client referrals from a custodial broker-dealer or third-party.

Item 13. Review of Accounts

Account Reviews

For those clients to whom NLFP provides investment management services, NLFP monitors those portfolios as part of an ongoing process. Model portfolios are reviewed on an on-going basis, and formally quarterly by our Investment Direction Committee. For those clients to whom NLFP provides financial planning and/or consulting services, reviews are conducted on an “as needed” basis. All investment advisory clients are encouraged to discuss their needs, goals and objectives with NLFP and to keep NLFP informed of any changes thereto. The Firm contacts Select Advisor Access investment advisory clients at least annually to review its previous services and/or recommendations and to discuss the impact resulting from any changes in the client’s financial situation and/or investment objectives.

Account Statements and Reports

Clients are provided with transaction confirmation notices and regular summary account statements directly from the Financial Institutions where their assets are custodied. From time-to-time or as otherwise requested, clients may also receive written or electronic reports from NLFP and/or an outside service provider, which contain certain account and/or market-related information, such as an inventory of account holdings or account performance. Clients should compare the account statements they receive from their custodian with those they receive from NLFP or an outside service provider.

Those clients to whom NLFP provides financial planning and/or consulting services will receive reports from NLFP summarizing its analysis and conclusions as requested by the client or as otherwise agreed to in writing by NLFP.

Item 14. Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Neither NLFP nor a related person directly or indirectly compensates a person who is not NLFP's supervised person for client referrals.

NLFP does not receive any economic benefit, sales compensation, or incentives from Lincoln Financial. For certain variable annuity contracts, Lincoln facilitates the deduction of NLFP's advisory fee directly from the client's annuity account as a billing service only. This arrangement is provided for the client's convenience and does not affect NLFP's fee schedule, create any additional compensation to NLFP, or result in preferential treatment. Clients remain responsible for all internal annuity contract fees charged by the insurer.

Other Economic Benefits

NLFP is required to disclose any relationship or arrangement where it receives an economic benefit from a third party (non-client) for providing advisory services. This type of relationship poses a conflict of interest and any such relationship is disclosed in response to Items 10 and 12, above.

Mutual Securities Inc. (MSI)

Our firm has a contractual agreement with MSI under which we receive a small percentage of the revenue MSI earns from servicing certain insurance products for our legacy clients. These payments are not insurance commissions, nor are our supervised persons required to maintain insurance licenses to receive them. This arrangement creates a conflict of interest because it provides our firm with an ongoing financial benefit from MSI. Clients are under no obligation to purchase products through MSI.

Item 15. Custody

NLFP's Agreement and/or the separate agreement with any Financial Institution may authorize NLFP through such Financial Institution to debit the client's account for the amount of NLFP's fee and to directly remit that management fee to NLFP in accordance with applicable custody rules. These statements are provided by the Financial Institution, while NLFP maintains copies of such statements.

Any third party account transfers from a custodial account at a Financial Institution will follow the rules indicated by the SEC, including the Financial Institution verifying the client's signature, providing prompt notice to the client and an initial notice confirming instructions. NLFP will maintain records showing that the third party is not a related party of NLFP, or located at the same address as NLFP.

The firm is deemed to have custody of client assets solely because certain clients have provided standing letters of authorization ("SLOAs") allowing the firm to move client funds between accounts with the same beneficial owner. These arrangements are maintained with qualified custodians and are subject to safeguards outlined in SEC guidance. The firm does not otherwise maintain custody of client funds or securities.

Item 16. Investment Discretion

NLFP is typically given the authority to exercise discretion on behalf of clients. NLFP is considered to exercise investment discretion over a client's account if it can effect transactions for the client without first having to seek the client's consent. NLFP is given this authority through a power-of-attorney included in the agreement between NLFP and the client. Clients may request a limitation on this authority (such as certain securities not to be bought or sold). NLFP takes discretion over the following activities:

- The securities to be purchased or sold;
- The amount of securities to be purchased or sold; and
- When transactions are made.

Item 17. Voting Client Securities

NLFP is required to disclose if it accepts authority to vote client securities. NLFP does not vote client securities on behalf of its clients. Clients receive proxies directly from the Financial Institutions.

Item 18. Financial Information

NLFP is not required to disclose any financial information pursuant to this Item due to the following:

- The Firm does not require or solicit the prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees six months or more in advance of services rendered;
- The Firm does not have a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet contractual commitments to clients; and
- The Firm has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
