FORM CRS

Bristlecone Value Partners is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment adviser and, as such, we provide advisory services rather than brokerage services. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you, our client, to understand the differences. Additionally, free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing. This document is a summary of the services and fees we offer to "retail" investors, which are natural persons who seek or receive services primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment supervisory services to retail investors. Detailed information regarding our services, fees and other disclosures can be found in our Form ADV Part 2A Items 4, 7, and 8 via the following link: <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/brochure/128117>.

- If you open an advisory account, you will pay an on-going fee based on the value of the cash and investments in your advisory account;
- We will offer you advice on a regular basis. We will discuss your investment goals, design with you a strategy to achieve your investment goals and monitor your account on an on-going basis. We will contact you (by phone or e-mail) at least twice a year or more when necessary to discuss your portfolio;
- We manage investment portfolios on a discretionary basis, whereby we buy and sell investments in your account without asking you in advance. You may limit our discretionary authority (for example, limiting the types of securities that can be purchased or sold for your account) by providing our firm with your restrictions and guidelines in writing. We only offer non-discretionary investment management services in very limited circumstances and only to clients who have most of their assets under discretionary authority with our firm. In non- discretionary arrangements, you will ultimately decide which investments to buy and sell for your account;
- We offer advice on various types of securities and are not limited to a specific menu of products or types of investments. Other firms could provide advice on a wider range of choices, some of which might have lower costs.
- In general, we require a minimum account size of $500,000 to open an account; however, we may accept smaller account sizes at our discretion.

What fees will I pay?

The following summarizes the principal fees and costs associated with engaging our firm for investment advisory services. For detailed information, refer to our Form ADV Part 2A via the following link: <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/brochure/128117>.

- We charge an asset-based fee for our portfolio management services, which is payable quarterly in advance. The average fee—as a percentage—that you pay declines as the amount of your assets under management increases and reaches certain thresholds. The more assets we have under management, the greater the revenue to our firm. We have an incentive to increase both the number of clients and the assets under management at our firm, potentially to the detriment of existing clients.
- Bristlecone is also the General Partner for a private pooled investment vehicle (Bristlecone Microcap fund or "the fund") that is only offered to retail investors meeting certain sophistication and financial requirements. We do not charge an asset-based fee, but we do charge a performance-based fee when the return exceeds 6% during a calendar year. Performance-based fees create an incentive for our firm to make investments that are riskier or more speculative than would be the case absent a performance fee arrangement.
- The following are examples of the most common fees and costs applicable to our clients, which are separate and distinct from our advisory fees:
 - Fees related to mutual funds and exchange-traded funds;
 - Transaction charges when we buy and sell investments for you; and
 - Custodian fees and other product-level fees (in limited circumstances).

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we must act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Further, as an investment adviser, we are held to a fiduciary standard that covers our entire relationship with you. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means.

Proprietary Product/Private Fund Affiliation: We serve as the General Partner to a private fund (Bristlecone Microcap fund) in which you may be solicited to invest. Because we manage the fund, a conflict of interest exists in that we have an incentive to recommend investments in the private fund. Refer to our Form ADV Part 2A via the following link: <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/firm/brochure/128117> to help you understand what conflicts exist.

How do your financial professionals make money?

The professionals servicing your account(s) receive a compensation comprised of a fixed and variable portion. The variable portion is a profit allocation based on percentage of ownership.

As an additional incentive, they also receive a portion of the fee received during the 1st year from new client assets referred to our firm. This compensation structure presents a conflict of interest in that financial professionals have an incentive to refer new clients to our firm.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

No, our firm and our financial professionals currently do not have any legal or disciplinary history to disclose.

- As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?
