4b: Types of Advisory Services

Curtis Wealth offers a variety of investment advisory services to our clients with discretionary and non-discretionary authority. Curtis Wealth's services include investment management, financial planning, and consulting services. Prior to providing advisory services, clients are required to enter into a written agreement with Curtis Wealth.

Investment Management Services

We work with our clients to identify their investment goals and objectives as well as risk tolerance to create an initial portfolio allocation designed to complement their clients' financial goals and objectives. We may create a portfolio consisting of, but not limited to, no-load funds and/or load-waived funds, exchange traded funds, individual stocks, or bonds.

Each portfolio will be initially designed to meet a particular investment goal which Curtis Wealth has determined to be suitable to our client's circumstances. Once the appropriate portfolio has been determined, we will review the portfolio and rebalance the account based upon our client's individual needs, stated goals, and objectives. Curtis Wealth's strategy, generally, will be to seek to meet client investment objectives while providing clients with access to personal advisory services. Curtis Wealth may also provide advice about any type of legacy position or other investment held in client portfolios.

As a fiduciary, Curtis Wealth always acts solely in your best interests. Your portfolio is customized based on your investment objectives. You may make requests or make suggestions in writing regarding the investments made in your portfolio. Restrictions on trading which, in our opinion, are not in your best interest cannot be honored and, if forced, may result in the termination of our agreement.

In cases where we are not given discretion, we must receive permission from the client to make any trades on a non-discretionary basis. In non-discretionary accounts, you have the right to decide whether to act upon Curtis Wealth's recommendations. If you elect to act on any of the recommendations, you have the right to effect the transaction through a professional unaffiliated with Curtis Wealth.

Occasionally our firm utilizes the sub-advisory services of a Third-Party Money Manager ("manager") for the management of client accounts. Sub-advisors are utilized by Curtis Wealth to offer funds to clients managed to a specific investment objective. The client will not engage the subadvisor directly; the client's advisory relationship remains with Curtis Wealth as set forth in the client's Investment Advisory Agreement. Our firm will not offer advice on any specific securities or other investments in connection with this service. Prior to utilizing sub-advisors for our clients, our firm will provide initial due diligence on managers and ongoing reviews of their management of client accounts. To assist in the selection of a manager, our firm will gather client information pertaining to financial situation, investment objectives, and reasonable restrictions to be imposed upon the management of the account.

Our firm will periodically review manager reports provided to the client at least annually. Our firm will contact clients from time to time to review their financial situation and objectives, communicate information to managers as warranted, and assist the client in understanding and evaluating the services provided by the managers.

Clients will be expected to notify our firm of any changes in their financial situation, investment objectives, or account restrictions that could affect their financial standing.

Our firm takes actions on behalf of the client to hire or fire managers used in the implementation of a client's investment plan and execution of the Advisory Agreement with our Firm. Therefore, the firm has the discretionary authority to hire or fire the manager or to allocate assets among managers without obtaining the client's consent.

Clients should carefully review the disclosure documents of managers for a full description of the services offered, investments, and strategies used.

Financial Planning Services

Curtis Wealth offers a broad range of financial planning and consulting services for our clients. Planning services can be provided on a stand-alone basis, or in conjunction with our investment management services. Financial Planning services are generally complimentary for clients that have investment management services with assets under management equal or greater than $250,000. The exception would be if financial planning is requested for complex situations beyond our normal scope listed below. The minimum fee for Financial Planning services is $2,500.

The services take into account information collected from the client such as financial status, investment objectives, tax status, and financial resources among other data. With respect to estate planning and tax planning, our role will be that of a coordinator between you and your designated professional(s).

Financial Planning includes, in all or part, but is not limited to, the preparation of a financial plan for an investment advisory client which may include reviews and recommendations on any or all of the following areas depending on the client's circumstances:

- Investment Planning: Determine with the client, based on their goals, time horizon, and risk tolerance, how to structure a suitable portfolio (using mutual funds and ETFs) using principles of diversification, asset allocation, and sometimes asset location.
- Investment Policy Statements: Determining specific parameters within which a client's investments will be managed that can include the weighting of stocks to bonds to cash, the limitation on the use of any particular type of security, the methodology used for rebalancing and so on.
- Portfolio Review and Evaluation: Assessing a client's existing portfolio to determine suitability of their current investments and, in some cases, evaluating the differences between such and the methods Curtis Wealth utilizes to manage assets. Evaluation can include weighting of asset classes, types of securities used, concentrated positions, tax efficiency of investments, expense ratios, and so forth.
- Capital Needs Analysis (Goal Funding): A method using time value of money calculations to determine how much a client would need to save, at a given level of return, every month or year in order to achieve a certain financial goal, such as paying for four years of college for their child.
- Tax Management and Planning: Forward-looking tax strategy that can help a client minimize their tax expenses and maximize what they have to invest. This can include planning for Roth conversions, strategic charitable giving, deferring income into tax-advantaged retirement accounts, and tax-loss harvesting, to name a few.
- Trust and Estate Planning: Helping a client understand how assets are distributed upon death and, at times, working with their estate planning attorneys to achieve both their financial and estate planning goals. This also involves review of beneficiary designations and ensuring clients have the proper and updated documents drafted to ensure they are always in control of how assets will be distributed.
- Retirement Planning: Gathering data that relates to a client's assets, liabilities, expenses, goals, and savings and evaluating such to determine the most appropriate strategy to achieving the greatest probability of being able to retire in the lifestyle they desire and maintain such for the rest of their lives.
- Social Security: Helping a client decide when to file for social security is a critical part of the retirement planning process. Married clients are advised on how to make their selections based on their particular circumstances as a couple and can involve a complex analysis that depends on longevity, income needs, and whether the client(s) intend to work in their retirement.

- Employee Benefits: If a client is an employee and has access to benefits, an analysis of available benefits can be done together with the client, offering advice on what benefits should be selected based upon the particular client's wishes, goals and family needs. This can include various types of insurance, Flexible Spending accounts, Employee Stock Purchase plans, Restricted Stock Awards, Options, and so on.
- Education Planning: Helping clients plan financially for the expenses involved in educating their children and the function of various tax advantaged ways of saving for such expenses such as with a 529 plan and annual gifting.
- Budgeting and Cash Flow Planning: Determining with the client what their net income and monthly/annual expenses are to determine where costs might be reduced to produce additional cash flow that can be allocated toward goals.
- Debt Management: Where a client has debts, gathering data on the nature and interest rates being paid on all liabilities, then completing a cash flow analysis to come up with the best strategy for tackling the paying down of debt in the most efficient way possible.
- Business Planning: If a client has or wishes to set up a small business, advice can be provided on entity selection, setting up of a retirement plan, employee benefits, and potentially a cross-purchase/buy-sell agreement.
- Charitable Giving: When a client wishes to be philanthropic, Curtis Wealth can assist the client in how to leverage their investments to maximize contributions and provide tax advantages simultaneously. This can include gifting of required minimum distributions (RMDs), setting up of Donor Advised Funds or gifting of highly appreciated shares, to name a few.
- Insurance Analysis: Gathering data on all current insurance policies that a client may have such as life, disability, and long term care policies and running an analysis to ensure that there is an adequate transfer of financial risk to the insurance company and a client still has the opportunity to meet their financial goals should something unforeseen occur such as a premature death or disability.
- Risk Management (Life and Disability Insurance): Curtis Wealth does not sell insurance products but can offer advice on what types of insurance a client may need or be lacking and how much would be adequate to ensure their goals are still met in the event of a disability or premature death.
- Disability Planning and Income Protection: Using various planning tools, an analysis of any current income protection a client may have through work (or owned individually) is completed to determine whether there are any "gaps" that might leave the client's family unable to meet financial goals and, if so, providing advice with finding the appropriate coverage.

Financial planning services can vary and are customized depending on each client's complexity and circumstances. The financial planning services will be defined and agreed upon by both parties in advance. For example, a client's not using Curtis Wealth's investment management services may request a comprehensive financial plan or certain components of our planning services.

The amount of time it could take to provide each of the financial planning services will depend on the client's unique circumstances and will vary from client to client. Our services are customized based on what a client may request. In addition, the amount of time it takes to provide these services is dependent on the quality and scope of the information that is provided by the client to the advisor.

Clients are encouraged to review their plans on a regular basis.

Curtis Wealth has a conflict of interest because it offers both financial planning and investment management services. When providing financial planning services, Curtis Wealth has an incentive to recommend itself for investment management services as Curtis Wealth receives additional compensation. Curtis Wealth mitigates this conflict of interest by disclosing this conflict to you and disclosing that clients always have the right to decide whether to act on any of the recommendations made by Curtis Wealth and, if you elect to act on any of the recommendations, you have the right to effect the transactions through a professional unaffiliated with Curtis Wealth. Our fiduciary obligation is to always act and recommend in the client's best interest.

Consulting Services

Curtis Wealth provides a wide array of customized consulting services which may vary greatly in depth and scope and may be offered in a variety of different situations or circumstances that relate to your financial picture. We may consult with you regarding topics that are not covered under our general financial planning services or may not rise to the level of financial planning in the extent of data-gathering and breadth and depth of recommendations. We may consult on such items as a real estate purchase, a sale analysis, or review of a financial account. Financial accounts may be accounts that are held at other firms or qualified retirement accounts held through the client's employer. The scope and cost of our consulting services are defined in writing prior to the engagement and will depend on the complexity of the situation. Consulting services will be offered to any client who the advisor deems to have circumstances that could be aided by our consulting services. Some factors in this determination may be the advisor's experience and level of expertise with the situation. Clients always have the right to decide whether to engage Curtis Wealth for consulting services.

4c: Client Tailored Relationships and Restrictions

As a fiduciary, Curtis Wealth always acts solely in your best interests. Your portfolio is customized based on your investment objectives. You may make requests or make suggestions regarding the investments made in your portfolio. Restrictions on trading which, in our opinion, are not in your best interest cannot be honored and, if forced, may result in the termination of our agreement.

You are under no obligation to act upon Curtis Wealth's or associated person's recommendations.

4d: Wrap Fee Program

Curtis Wealth does not sponsor nor provide portfolio management services to a wrap fee program.

4e: Assets Under Management (AUM)

As Curtis Wealth is a new registered investment advisor, it does not have any reportable AUM.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

5a, b, c & d: Fee Schedules, Payments & Options

Investment Management

Standard Annual Management fee is 1.00% of the market value of the account.

Fees are negotiable. Fees may differ based on a number of factors:

- Size of the relationship. Larger accounts may receive more favorable pricing.
- Accounts within the same household will be combined under a signed householding form for a reduced fee unless the client instructs otherwise.
- Less active accounts may receive more favorable pricing.
- Our employees and their family-related accounts are charged a reduced fee for services.

For purposes of determining value, securities and other instruments traded on a market for which actual transaction prices are publicly reported are valued at the last reported sale price on the principal market in which they are traded. If the investments are not managed assets, they are not included in Curtis Wealth's fee calculation.

Compensation for our services will be calculated in accordance with what is set in the client agreement. We may modify the terms of any agreement by written changes submitted to the client for signature. While we strive to maintain competitive fees, the same or similar services may be available from other firms at higher or lower fees.

Curtis Wealth requires written authorization from the client to deduct advisory fees from an account held by a qualified custodian. At the same time Curtis Wealth sends the qualified custodian written notice of the amount of the fee to be deducted from the client's account, Curtis Wealth sends the client a written invoice itemizing the fee, including the formula used to calculate the fee, the time period covered by the fee, and the amount of assets under management on which the fee was based. The invoice will also contain the fee calculation itself and the name of the custodian. Curtis Wealth fees are paid from your account by the custodian when we submit an invoice to them. We strongly urge you to compare our invoices to custodian statements for accuracy.

Curtis Wealth fees are paid quarterly in arrears based on the value as of the last business day of the quarter with payment due within 10 days from the date of the invoice. Our fee is determined by taking the percentage rate we charge, divided by four, times the market value of the account. For example, a $1,000,000 account balance at the end of a quarter charged at a 1% annual rate is charged .25% per quarter, so $$1,000,000 \times .0025 = $2,500$. The market value is the sum of the values of all managed assets in the account, not adjusted by any margin debit.

In cases where there are partial fees at the commencement or termination of our agreement, they will be billed or refunded on a pro-rated basis contingent on the number of days the account was open. Quarterly fee adjustments for additional assets received into the account during a quarter or for partial withdrawals will also be provided on the above pro rata basis.

If there is insufficient cash in your account to pay your fees, securities in your portfolio may be sold to pay our fee.

In addition to our fees, there may be custodial, mutual fund, 12b-1 fees, or similar third-party management fees and charges. See 5c: Third Party Fees below.

Sub-Advised Programs

As discussed in Item 4 above, there are occasions where an independent Third-Party Money Manager (“manager”) acts as a sub-adviser to our firm. In those circumstances, the manager manages the assets based upon the parameters provided by our firm. The client will not engage the subadvisor directly; the client’s advisory relationship remains with Curtis Wealth as set forth in the client’s Investment Advisory Agreement. Sub Advisors charge separate fees for the services provided. A separate fee is charged by Curtis Wealth for portfolio monitoring, oversight, and ongoing due diligence on the manager. See Item 4 for other services provided by Curtis Wealth when utilizing subadvisors.

The total advisory fee may be collected from the custodian by our firm. Alternatively, the manager fee may be collected separately from the custodian. The total fee will include our firm’s portion of the investment advisory fee as well as the manager’s fee. Fees charged by the managers range from 0.35% to 1.00%. Clients may be able to go to the sub adviser directly for advisory services.

Curtis Wealth may, at any time, terminate the relationship with a manager that manages your assets. Curtis Wealth will notify you of instances where we have terminated a relationship with any manager you are investing with. Curtis Wealth will not conduct ongoing supervisory reviews of the manager following such termination.

Factors involved in the termination of a manager may include a failure to adhere to their stated management style or your objectives, a material change in the professional staff of the manager, unexplained poor performance, unexplained inconsistency of account performance, or our decision to no longer include the manager on our list of approved managers.

Information regarding the services and strategies provided by managers can be found in the specific manager’s ADV 2A. Clients are encouraged to carefully review each manager’s ADV 2A disclosure brochure for service level, fee, conflict of interest, and professional background information applicable to each sub-advisor.

Financial Planning Fees

For clients who engage Curtis Wealth for investment management services, fees for financial planning and consulting services are generally complimentary for clients that have investment management services with assets under management equal to or greater than $250,000.

Fees for standalone services (when a client does not use Curtis Wealth’s investment management services for complimentary financial planning or meet the assets under management threshold of $250,000) are charged on an hourly basis. The hourly rate for financial planning is $250 per hour with a minimum fee of $2500. Preparing an initial financial plan generally takes 10-15 hours, depending on the complexity, nature, and time required to gather and analyze relevant information. As plans become more complex, require additional expertise, and cover multiple topics, they take more time to complete and may require additional hours. For clients who subsequently engage Curtis Wealth for investment management services, we may waive or offset all or a portion of its fees for standalone financial planning and consulting services.

These arrangements will be defined and agreed upon by both parties via the financial planning agreement. The fees are negotiable.

Curtis Wealth does not require a retainer for this service. Financial Planning fees will be billed in arrears upon delivery of the plan or completion of the agreed services, with payment due within 10 days from the date of the invoice. Financial Planning fees may be paid by personal check or the client may elect by written authorization to have their fee debited from investment management nonqualified accounts approved for such fee debit payments. Fees may be billed on a quarterly basis. In all instances, Curtis Wealth will send the client a written invoice concurrent with the request for payment. The invoice will include the fee, the formula used to calculate the fee(s), the fee calculation itself, the period covered by the fee(s), and the name of the custodian.

Curtis Wealth does not take receipt of more than $500 in fees per client six (6) months in advance. Clients may terminate these contracts at any time. When an agreement is terminated, Curtis Wealth will invoice for all earned fees as of the date of termination based on the services completed. Curtis Wealth will deliver the completed portion of any documents to the client.

Consulting Services

Fees for consulting services are based on an hourly rate of $250 per hour. All fees will be disclosed to each client in writing prior to the engagement, and clients always have the right to decide whether to engage Curtis Wealth for Consulting Services. The services may be billed at the time work is performed, although contracts may specify the total number of hours expected in total. Fees are due within ten (10) days of invoice. Consulting fees are negotiable.

Consulting fees may be paid by personal check or the client may elect by written authorization to have their fee debited from investment management nonqualified accounts approved for such fee debit payments. In all instances, Curtis Wealth will send the client a written invoice concurrent with the request for payment. The invoice will include the fee, the formula used to calculate the fee(s), the fee calculation itself, the period covered by the fee(s), and the name of the custodian. Clients may terminate these contracts at any time.

When an agreement is terminated, we will refund any prepaid, unearned fees based on hours billed in advance.

Refunds will be made within 30 days of the effective date of termination. If billing in arrears, Curtis Wealth will invoice for all earned fees based on hours completed as of the date of termination.

Lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. If a conflict exists between the interests of the Advisor or its associated persons and the interest of the client, the client always has the right to decide whether to act on any of the recommendations made by Curtis Wealth and if you elect to act on any of the recommendations, you have the right to effect the transactions through a professional unaffiliated with Curtis Wealth. Our fiduciary obligation is to always act and recommend in the clients' best interest.

5c: Third Party Fees

You are responsible for the payment of all third-party fees (i.e. custodian fees, mutual fund fees, 12b-1 fees, transaction fees, etc.). Those fees are also separate and distinct from the fees we charge. Curtis Wealth does the best we can to minimize all fees and transaction costs.

All brokerage commissions, stock transfer fees, 12b-1 fees and other similar charges incurred in connection with transactions for the account will be paid out of the assets in the account and are in addition to the investment management fees paid to us. While we take measures to ensure the fees charged are accurate, it is your responsibility to ensure the amount of fee charged is correct. In addition to invoices and reports sent by us, you will receive statements directly from the custodian or mutual funds or other investments you hold. We strongly urge you to compare our invoices and reports to custodian statements for accuracy.

5d: Termination

The investment advisory contract may be terminated by the client within five (5) business days of signing the contract without incurring any advisory fees or penalty. Ongoing, Curtis Wealth or our clients can terminate our agreement upon receipt of written notice to the other party.

When an agreement is terminated, we will refund any prepaid, unearned fees based on the number of days remaining in the quarter after termination. Refunds will be made within 30 days of the effective date of termination.

You will be responsible for paying all fees including full quarterly custodial administrative fees, account closure fees, mutual fund fees, and all trading costs due to the termination. If there is insufficient cash in the account, the liquidation of some securities may be used to pay the fees. Prior to termination of an agreement, we can provide a good faith estimate of these fees.

5e: Other Investment Compensation

Curtis Wealth does not accept commission for the sale of securities or other investment products, including asset-based sales charges or service fees from the sale of mutual funds.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-by-Side Management

Curtis Wealth does not charge advisory fees on the performance of funds or securities in your account.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Curtis Wealth generally provides asset management and financial planning services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals
- High-Net-Worth Individuals
- Trusts
- Estates
- Charitable Organizations

Minimum Account Size:

Curtis Wealth does not have an account minimum. However, we may decline to accept clients with smaller portfolios.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

8a: Analysis

In determining the recommendations to give to you, we first gather and consider information regarding several factors including our client's:

- Current financial situation
- Investment goals and objectives
- Current and long-term needs
- Tolerance and appetite for risk
- Level of investment knowledge

Curtis Wealth uses multiple sources of information to obtain analysis and strategies. They include sources such as financial newspapers, financial magazines, research prepared by others, corporate rating services, prospectuses, company press releases, annual reports, and filings with the SEC.

Curtis Wealth's methods of analysis include Fundamental analysis, Modern portfolio theory, and Cyclical analysis.

Fundamental analysis involves the analysis of financial statements, the general financial health of companies, and/or the analysis of management or competitive advantages.

Modern portfolio theory is a theory of investment that attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, each by carefully choosing the proportions of various assets.

Cyclical analysis involves the analysis of business cycles to find favorable conditions for buying and/or selling a security.

8b: Investment Strategies

Asset Allocation

Curtis Wealth recommends a mix of asset classes for your portfolio based on an assessment of your long-term financial objectives. Where appropriate, we will recommend an allocation to high-quality, short-term, and intermediate term bonds (within a broadly diversified index or asset class mutual fund) to reduce overall portfolio risk, generate a more predictable cash flow (interest income), facilitate portfolio rebalancing, and provide a hedge against inflation.

If your objective is a higher annual expected return and you are willing to accept a higher degree of risk, we will recommend a portfolio with greater weighting to stocks in general and small company and value stocks specifically (using index or asset class mutual funds). Recommended stock allocations will generally be globally diversified among the U.S., foreign developed markets, and emerging markets. In certain circumstances, we may include REITs in limited percentages. Our recommended asset allocation is not influenced by current market conditions. This asset allocation is altered only when your long-term investment objectives have changed.

Asset Allocation is based on the principle that different assets perform differently in different market and economic conditions. It is difficult to predict how any particular asset class will perform in any given year.

Diversification is a strategy for managing risk. Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against a loss in a declining market. Asset Allocation is unlikely to generate the greatest returns since not all of the asset classes will do equally well.

Rebalancing

Asset allocations for your portfolio will change as financial markets rise and fall and the specific assets of different parts of your portfolio change. This creates the opportunity to selectively rebalance your portfolio in order to bring asset class percentages back to your policy targets. Asset classes that have risen beyond predetermined limits are sold by an amount that brings the allocation back in line with policy targets, and those that have fallen in value are purchased in the same way. This is a method of buying low and selling high that is not based on trying to predict the direction of markets or asset returns.

This rebalancing has the effect of enhancing portfolio returns while maintaining the agreed-upon risk. In order to limit rebalancing transactions and the costs associated with buying and selling mutual funds through the chosen custodian, Curtis Wealth has predetermined ranges in which allocations may vary and at which rebalancing is initiated.

Specific Investments

We generally select ETFs, mutual funds, or similar securities. We may at times select individual securities or build individual stock portfolios for our clients. In these cases, Curtis Wealth examines each security's management, financial condition, and market position and ensures that any purchases of individual securities work toward the client's portfolio goals, investment horizons, and exposure to risk. Individual stocks present potential risks as prices of individual securities can move up or down due to general economic conditions, industry specific conditions, government regulations or corporate management, among other factors.

8c: Risk of Loss

All investments include a risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Performance of any investment is not guaranteed. We use our best efforts and expertise to manage your assets. However, we cannot guarantee any level of performance or that you will not experience financial loss.

Fundamental analysis concentrates on factors that determine a company's value and expected future earnings. This strategy would normally encourage equity purchases in stocks that are undervalued or priced below their perceived value. The risk assumed is that the market will fail to reach expectations of perceived value.

Modern portfolio theory assumes that investors are risk averse, meaning that given two portfolios that offer the same expected return, investors will prefer the less risky one. Thus, an investor will take on increased risk only if compensated by higher expected returns. Conversely, an investor who wants higher expected returns must accept more risk. The exact trade-off will be the same for all investors, but different investors will evaluate the trade-off differently based on individual risk aversion characteristics. The implication is that a rational investor will not invest in a portfolio if a second portfolio exists with a more favorable risk-expected return profile, i.e., if, for that level of risk, an alternative portfolio exists which has better expected returns.

Cyclical analysis assumes that the markets react in cyclical patterns which, once identified, can be leveraged to provide performance. The risks with this strategy are twofold: 1) the markets do not always repeat cyclical patterns, and 2) if too many investors begin to implement this strategy, then it changes the very cycles these investors are trying to exploit.

Clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any investment strategy. The investment types listed below (leaving aside Treasury Inflation Protected/Inflation Linked Bonds) are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Mutual Funds: Investing in mutual funds carries the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature.

Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs): An ETF is an investment fund traded on stock exchanges, similar to stocks. Investing in ETFs carries the risk of capital loss (sometimes up to a 100% loss in the case of a stock holding bankruptcy). Areas of concern include the lack of transparency in products and increasing complexity, conflicts of interest, and the possibility of inadequate regulatory compliance. Precious Metal ETFs (e.g., Gold, Silver, or Palladium Bullion backed “electronic shares” not physical metal) specifically may be negatively impacted by several unique factors, including: 1) large sales by the official sector which own a significant portion of aggregate world holdings in gold and other precious metals, 2) a significant increase in hedging activities by producers of gold or other precious metals, and 3) a significant change in the attitude of speculators and investors.

Equity investments generally refers to buying shares of stocks in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and/or capital gains if the value of the stock increases. The value of equity securities may fluctuate in response to specific situations for each company, industry conditions, and the general economic environments.

Fixed income investments generally pay a return on a fixed schedule, though the amount of the payments can vary. This type of investment can include corporate and government debt securities, leveraged loans, high yield and investment-grade debt, and structured products such as mortgage and other asset-backed securities, although individual bonds may be the best-known type of fixed income security. In general, the fixed income market is volatile, and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities.) Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, liquidity risk, call risk, and credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The risk of default on treasury inflation protected/inflation linked bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value, albeit rather minimal.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

10a: Broker Dealers and Registered Representatives

Curtis Wealth is not registered as a broker-dealer and our employees are not registered representatives of any broker-dealer.

10b: Registration as a Futures Commission Merchant, Commodity Pool Operator, or a Commodity Trading Advisor

Neither Curtis Wealth nor our employees hold any of the above registrations.

10c: Registration Relationships Material to this Advisory Business and Possible Conflicts of Interests

The principal business of Curtis Wealth is that of a registered investment advisor and provider of financial planning services.

Some of our associated persons may be insurance agents. When acting in the capacity of an insurance agent, the advisor and associated persons may receive the usual and customary commissions or fees associated with the insurance products that the client purchases. Receiving commissions on insurance products may cause a conflict of interest. At all times, you are free to choose an outside agency to avoid the possibility of there being a conflict of interest.

Curtis Wealth will disclose any material conflict of interest relating to Curtis Wealth, our representatives, or any of our associates which could reasonably be expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

10d: Selection of Other Advisors and How this Advisor is Compensated for those Selections

Curtis Wealth is not paid for the selection of other advisors, asset managers, or portfolio managers.

Curtis Wealth may enter directly into sub-advisory relationships with independent registered investment advisory firms (“sub-advisors”) on behalf of its clients as part of our discretionary services. We do not receive any additional compensation for selecting a sub-advisor. Prior to entering into a relationship, Curtis Wealth performs a due diligence review of the sub-advisor. This review includes, but is not limited to, the review of regulatory filings, investment offerings, and the performance of the strategies considered.

When a strategy offered through a sub-advisor is appropriate for a client of Curtis Wealth, the client will be given the sub-advisor’s Form ADV Part 2A, Privacy Notice, and any other information that may be relevant or informative to the client.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading11a: Code of Ethics Description

We have adopted a Code of Ethics to which all investment advisor representatives and employees are bound to adhere. The key component of our Code of Ethics states that Curtis Wealth and its investment advisor representatives and employees shall always:

- Act with integrity, competence, dignity, and ethics when dealing with the public, clients, prospects, employers, and employees.
- Exercise its authority and responsibility for the benefit and interest of its clients first and to refrain from having outside interests that conflict with the interests of its clients. Curtis Wealth must avoid any circumstances that might adversely affect or appear to affect its duty of complete loyalty to its clients.
- Refrain from disclosing any nonpublic personal information about a client to any nonaffiliated third party unless the client expressly gives permission to Curtis Wealth to do so. All client information will otherwise be treated as confidential.
- Maintain the physical security of nonpublic information, including information stored on computers.

This Code of Ethics is in place to guide the personal conduct of our team and embodies our fiduciary duties and responsibilities to you, and sets forth our practice of supervising the personal securities transactions of employees with prior or concurrent access to client trade information. A copy of the Curtis Wealth Code of Ethics is available, free of charge, upon request.

11b, c & d: Participation or Interest in Client Transactions

Curtis Wealth or its employees may buy and sell some of the same securities for our own accounts that we buy and sell for our clients. We will always buy or sell from our clients’ accounts before we buy or sell from our accounts. In some cases, Curtis Wealth or its employees may buy or sell securities for our own accounts and not for clients’ accounts, as it may not meet the objectives or plans for the client. There are possible conflicts of interest, which our Code of Ethics addresses. We will always evaluate our activity from the view of our clients to ensure that any and all required disclosures are made. For example, we will disclose anything that would cause you to be unfairly influenced to make any decision regarding actions or inactions in your account.

Curtis Wealth does not buy or sell between Curtis Wealth, our employees, or our clients’ accounts.

Curtis Wealth always tries to get the best price for the client. Curtis Wealth has in place internal controls and processes to allow contemporaneous trading (submitting Curtis Wealth or employee orders at the same time as client orders) in block or aggregate trades. In other cases, except in the case of unaffiliated mutual funds, we will always trade individual securities in a client account before we trade Curtis Wealth or employee accounts.

Curtis Wealth does not recommend securities to advisory clients nor buy or sell securities for advisory client accounts in which Curtis Wealth or a related person has a material financial interest.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

12a: Selecting Brokerage Firms

The Custodian and Brokers We Use

Curtis Wealth does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage. Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. We recommend that our clients use either Fidelity Investments (Fidelity) or Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (Schwab) as the qualified custodian. Curtis Wealth is independently owned and operated and not affiliated with Fidelity or Schwab.

Custodians will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when instructed to do so. While we recommend that you use Fidelity or Schwab as custodian/broker, you will decide whether to do so and open your account by entering into an account agreement directly with them. If you do not wish to place your assets with Fidelity or Schwab, then we cannot manage your account. Even though your account is maintained at Fidelity or Schwab, we can still use other brokers to execute trades for your account, as described under Your Custody and Brokerage Costs below. Curtis Wealth does not receive any client referrals from either Fidelity or Schwab.

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to select a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are overall most advantageous when compared to other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including, among others, these:

- combination of transaction execution services along with asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody)
- capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- capabilities to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- breadth of investment products made available (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange traded funds (ETFs), etc.)
- availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- quality of services
- competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate them
- reputation, financial strength, and stability of the provider
- their prior service to us and our other clients
- availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below (see “Products and Services Available to Us from Custodians we use”)

To avoid creating a possible conflict of interest in recommending broker-dealers, we have established the following restrictions in order to ensure our fiduciary responsibilities:

1. Curtis Wealth adheres to our Code of Ethics as outlined in Item 11 above.
2. If Curtis Wealth receives separate compensation for transactions, we will fully disclose them.
3. Curtis Wealth emphasizes the unrestricted right of you to select and choose your own broker or dealer.
4. Curtis Wealth will always act in accordance with all applicable federal and state regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.

Your Custody and Brokerage Costs

For our clients’ accounts it maintains, custodians generally do not charge you separately for custody services but is compensated by charging you commissions or other fees on trades that it executes or that settle into your account. For some accounts, custodians may charge you a percentage of the dollar amount of assets in the account in lieu of commissions. Custodian rates may be determined by committing a certain value of assets at the custodian. This commitment benefits you because the overall rates you pay are lower than they would be if we had not made the commitment. You may also be charged a flat dollar amount as a “prime Broker” or “trade away” fee for each trade that we have executed by a different broker-dealer but where the securities bought or the funds from the securities sold are deposited (settled) into your account. These fees are in addition to the commissions or other compensation you pay the executing broker-dealer. Because of this, in order to minimize your trading costs, we have Fidelity and Schwab execute most trades for your account.

Products and Services Available to Us

Custodians may provide Curtis Wealth and our clients with access to its institutional brokerage trading - custody reporting, and related services – many of which are not typically available to retail customers. These services help us manage or administer our clients’ accounts while others help us manage and grow our business.

Services that Benefit You. You gain access to a broad range of investment products, execution of securities transactions, and custody of client assets. The investment products available through custodians include some to which we might not otherwise have access or that would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment by our clients.

Services that May Not Directly Benefit You. Other products and services that benefit us but may not directly benefit you or your account. These products and services assist us in managing and administering our clients’ accounts. They include investment research, both from the custodian and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at the custodian from which we received the benefit. In addition to investment research, custodians also make available software and other technology that:

- provide access to client account data (such as duplicate trade confirmations and account statements)
- facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- provide pricing and other market data
- facilitate payment of our fees from our clients’ accounts
- assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping, and client reporting

Services that Generally Benefit Only Us. Some services are intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

- educational conferences and events
- technology, compliance, legal, and business consulting
- publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers

A custodian may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. It may also discount or waive their fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party’s fees. It may also provide us with other benefits such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

We endeavor at all times to put the interests of our clients first. You should be aware, however, that the receipt of the types of benefits discussed above can create a potential conflict of interest by influencing our choice of a custodian.

12b: Sales Aggregation

Curtis Wealth is authorized to aggregate purchases and sales and other transactions made for your account with purchases and sales and other transactions in the same or similar securities or instruments for other clients of ours. When we aggregate transactions, the actual prices applicable to the aggregated transactions will be averaged, and the account will be deemed to have purchased or sold its proportionate share of the securities or instruments involved at the average price obtained. Stock exchange regulations may in certain instances prevent the executing broker-dealer from delivering to the account a confirmation slip with respect to its participation in the aggregated transaction and, in such event, we will advise you in writing of any purchase or disposition of instruments for the account with respect to any such aggregated transaction. We will direct that confirmations of any transactions effected for the account will be sent, in conformity with applicable law, to you.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

13a: Periodic Reviews

Accounts are managed and reviewed by Jordan Robert Curtis, CCO. The frequency of reviews is determined based on your investment objectives but no less than quarterly. Accounts are reviewed to determine if the positions, transactions, and strategies are consistent with the client's stated investment objective(s) and whether any rebalancing or adjustments may be necessary.

Financial planning clients receive their financial plans and recommendations at the time the service is completed. Depending on the type of financial planning service requested, we may meet on a regular basis with you to discuss any potential changes to your financial plan.

13b: Review Triggers

More frequent reviews are triggered by a change in your investment objectives, tax considerations, large deposits or withdrawals, large sales or purchases, loss of confidence in corporate management, or changes in economic climate.

13c: Regular Reports

All investment advisory clients receive reports as needed, but no less than annually, on representative investments recommended specifically by Curtis Wealth. Reports are generated either through Tamarac or Orion based on custodian data. Performance reports may contain such items as: Performance Review, Summary by Account, Asset Allocation, Security Performance, Realized Gains/Losses, Holdings, and Transactions that occurred during the period. Custodian data is provided to Tamarac and Orion directly and reports are generated only using the custodian data.

Investment advisory clients also receive standard account statements from the custodian of their accounts on at least a quarterly basis.

Financial planning clients do not normally receive investment reports.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

14a: Economic Benefits Provided by Third Parties for Advice Rendered to Clients

We receive an economic benefit from Fidelity and Schwab in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors that have their clients maintain accounts at these custodians. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices). The availability to us of these products and services is not based on us giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

Curtis Wealth does not receive economic benefits from third parties for the advice we render to our clients. As disclosed in Item 12 above, broker-dealers may provide services, tools, or other non-financial benefits to us as a benefit for using the broker-dealer's services. However, we endeavor at all times to put the interests of our clients first. You should be aware, however, that the receipt of benefits can create a potential conflict of interest by influencing our choice of a broker-dealer.

14b: Compensation to Non-Advisory Personnel for Client Referrals

Curtis Wealth does not directly or indirectly compensate any person for client referrals.

Item 15 – Custody

Curtis Wealth clients' accounts are held by a qualified custodian, as designated by the client in writing, and other than to withdraw advisory fees, Curtis Wealth shall have no liability to the client for any loss or other harm to any property in the account. This includes harm to any property in the account resulting from the insolvency of the custodian or any unauthorized acts of the agents or employees of the custodian and whether or not the full amount or such loss is covered by the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC") or any other insurance which may be carried by the custodian. The client understands that SIPC provides only limited protection for the loss of property held by a broker-dealer.

As a fiduciary, Curtis Wealth will always act in the client's best interests and, in doing so, the above does not limit or modify that duty to our clients. Custodial statements will include fees charged by Curtis Wealth. At the same time, we invoice the custodian, we will provide an invoice to you that includes our rate, the value of assets, and the resulting fee. We strongly urge you to compare these statements for accuracy.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Curtis Wealth asks our clients to give us discretionary authority to execute transactions without our client's prior approval. These transactions may include the purchase and selling of securities, arranging for payments, or generally acting on behalf of our clients in most matters necessary to the handling of the account. This includes the buying or selling of securities, the rebalancing and selection of portfolios, the selection of portfolio managers or sub-advisors or the disbursement of funds to the client as requested or arranged. Discretionary authority is granted once an election is made on the Investment Advisory Agreement and the agreement is signed by the client. In cases where we are not given discretion, we must receive permission from the client to make any trades on a non-discretionary basis.

You may make requests or make suggestions regarding the investments made in your portfolio. Restrictions on trading which, in our opinion, are not in your best interest cannot be honored and, if forced, may result in the termination of our agreement.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

The clients of Curtis Wealth retain the authority to proxy vote. You should ensure that proxy ballots are mailed directly to you by selecting this option on your custodial application forms. You are welcome to delegate said proxy voting authority to a third-party representative (non-advisory personnel) by filing the appropriate custodial form. Curtis Wealth will not accept authority to vote client proxies. This policy is set forth in Curtis Wealth's standard advisory agreements. Proxy material will be sent from the transfer agent and, in rare cases, could come from Fidelity or Schwab.

Should Curtis Wealth inadvertently receive proxy information for a security held in clients' accounts, it would immediately forward such information on to clients but will not take any further action with respect to the voting of such proxy. Upon termination of the advisory relationship, Curtis Wealth will make a good faith and reasonable attempt to forward proxy information inadvertently received on behalf of clients to the forwarding address provided by clients. Clients may contact Curtis Wealth for advice or information about a particular proxy vote; however, Curtis Wealth shall not be deemed to have proxy voting authority solely as a result of providing such advice to clients.
