

Four New Ways to Support Your Financial Journey

October 14, 2025

At 5T Wealth, our mission has always been to help you make confident, informed decisions so that your financial resources support not only your future but also a life of meaning today. To deepen that commitment, we are excited to announce the launch of four new newsletters, each written by a different member of our team.

Each newsletter will bring a unique perspective and focus, but all share a common goal: to empower you with knowledge and insight.

- Understanding the Markets: Clear explanations of what's happening in financial markets and why it matters for you, tying together macro-economic trends, interest rates, inflation, international factors, and other timely insights. (Chris Roth)
- Planning for the Future: Guidance to strengthen your confidence about retirement, legacy, and long-term goals. (Colton Maher)
- Living with Purpose: Thoughtful ideas on how to align your wealth with your values and make your life more meaningful. (Jackie Lou Raquidan)
- CEO's Corner: Connecting vision to today's markets, both macro and local, while also communicating our firm's vision, priorities and guidance. (Paul Krsek)

We believe that by offering diverse voices and areas of expertise, we can better serve you and provide timely, relevant information that helps you navigate today's financial world with greater clarity and confidence.

We look forward to sharing these with you and, as always, welcome your feedback. Our mission is not just to manage your money, but to help you use it to build the life you want most.

All the best to you,

Paul Krsek
