

Meet the artist

A self-taught watercolor artist, I have been interested in art my entire life, but until recently, only painted sporadically, for friends, family and the occasional commissioned project. After working in sales for over 25 years, I decided that it was time for a leap of faith and to pursue my passion full-time.

I specialize in watercolor, with pen and ink as the final touches. Recently, I have expanded into using alcohol inks on ceramic tile, and fired up my 35 year interest in pottery. Much of my art is inspired from unique things I see on nature hikes with my two dogs on the Ice Age Trails in Wisconsin.

I will happily create any piece of art you'd like-- feel free to contact me to discuss it any time. My art makes wonderfully personalized gifts for any occasion, or as a special treat for yourself.
